

France Keeps Britain Out of Common Mart

By TOM OCHILTREE

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Britain lost its fight today to keep on negotiating for Common Market membership despite last-minute intervention by President Kennedy's administration. Envoys of the six members gave British officials the bad news.

After a day of wrangling, the French came out of the conference room clear winners. The French not only killed Britain's bid for membership, but in the view of some diplomats they have begun a long process of lessening American and British influence on the Continent.

Bitterly disappointed, Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak said the spirit of European unity suffered a severe setback.

Formal rejection of Britain's bid was made known to Deputy Foreign Minister Edward Heath at an afternoon session—the first one this week the British were invited to attend.

Five of the six Common Market countries fought on Britain's behalf but were unable to overcome France's opposition.

As the negotiating ministers for the six Common Market countries recessed for lunch, West German Economic Minister Ludwig Erhard told reporters:

"The negotiations are over. They have failed. We will come together again this afternoon, but no progress at all has been made. The five are still in agreement that Britain should be brought into the Common Market but they cannot convince France."

Bills to Amend Constitution Go to Faubus

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Senate completed legislative action Monday on three resolutions proposing amendments to the federal constitution.

The Senate acted on House versions of the three proposals. The bills now are ready for Gov. Orval E. Faubus' signature.

The Senate passed its own versions of the measures early in the session. They are waiting action by the House.

Proposed were amendments to give state legislatures power to force Congress to propose amendments, to create a super Court of the Union and to relieve the U.S. Supreme Court of authority to rule in cases involving reapportionment of state legislatures.

Both houses gave a unanimous vote Monday to bills to increase the maximum welfare grant for the aged and blind from $65 to $85 a month.

Each house acted on its own bills. The bills then switched houses for further handling.

Monday was another short legislative day. The House passed several minor bills in an 85-minute session and received 15 new introductions. The Senate met for 90 minutes. Besides the resolutions it passed one local bill and a House bill which would require white - candidates to register 30 days, instead of 48 hours, before a general election.

The House was to reconvene at noon and the Senate at 1 p. m. today.

The House passed bills to permit telecasting of a replica of an election ballot for informational

Grubb School Seeking New Facilities

GRUBBS, Ark. (AP)—Some 270 students at Grubbs

The high school was destroyed by fire last Friday, and their elders are about the task of providing the students with educational facilities.

Rudolph Amman, superintendent of Grubbs Schools, said the 360 residents of Grubbs have pitched in to find facilities.

Townpeople began partitioning sections of the school gymnasium, which escaped damage in the fire. The partitioning is expected to be completed today, providing two classrooms and a study hall. The gym already has four classrooms.

Amman said the partitioning would create as many classrooms as the school had before the fire. Other classrooms are being readied in a home economics building and an agriculture building on the campus.

Citizens aided school officials Monday in determining the number of textbooks claimed by the fire. Students were dismissed after five hours of school Monday.

Teachers and volunteer workers remained at the school to determine what was destroyed.

The entire library, science equipment and commercial equipment was listed in the fire.

Robert Frost, dean of American poets, died early today at the age of 88.

He was pronounced dead at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital at 1:50 a. m. after two operations, a heart attack and three separate blood clots in his lungs since Dec. 3.

The four-time Pulitzer Prize winner had been making what doctors called a remarkable recovery until his general condition began deteriorating in the past 48 hours.

His attending physician, Dr. Roger B. Hickler, said Frost died shortly after complaining of severe chest pains and a shortness of breath.

Cause of death was listed as probably a pulmonary embolism — a blood clot in the lungs.

Dr. Hickler said that a few hours before the fatal attack Frost was talkative and comfortable.

Frost entered the hospital Dec. 3 and underwent an operation seven days later for removal of a urinary obstruction.

Subsequently he had a heart attack.

Both Europe and the United States have been gripped in a week-long siege of freezing temperatures.

Mother Asks Protection at Dollarway

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Mrs. Florence Hudman pondered today the possibility that Arkansas' truancy law will be enforced against her daughters, who said they were abused at Dollarway School when they tried to help a Negro girl.

Mrs. Hudman said she had taken her daughters, Cathy, 15, and Earline, 17, out of the school pending assurance that they would be protected.

She appealed by telegram to Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, U.S. District Judge J. Smith Henley and U.S. Attorney Robert D. Smith of Little Rock after she said county officials were not able to help.

Smith said it was a matter for local authorities to handle, but his office was looking into the case. The Justice Department at Washington said last week that it planned no action regarding integrated Dollarway School, but that it was watching developments.

Sarah Howard, 15, a Negro, entered the 10th grade at Dollarway Jan. 21, becoming the second Negro at the school. The other is Samuel Wayne Cain, 8, a third-grader.

The state truancy law provides that children under 16 must attend school. The law can be invoked when a truancy officer decides a "reasonable" time has elapsed since a student last attended.

However, Pine Bluff has no truancy officer. Mrs. J. W. Poindester, probation officer for the juvenile court, declined to comment on the possibility that the law would be used.

Mrs. Hudman said she preferred to send her daughters to Dollarway School, but that she was taking them to Houston late yesterday.

Teacher Salaries to Be Discussed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus and leaders of the Arkansas Education Association met here Monday to discuss teacher salary increases.

Forrest Rozzell, executive secretary of the AEA, other AEA officials and legal aides to the governor attended the meeting. Details were not made public.

Generally reliable sources said there is a possibility of a $4,000 minimum wage for teachers holding a master's degree.

The Arkansas Democrat's Kar Shannon in discussing the appropriation of the Arkansas House of Representatives, which was increased by some $30,000, writes: "Pulaski Rep. H. H. Cottrell Jr. made a hard plea against the huge 'pork barrel' appropriation."

He called it "a matter of 75,000 for ghost employees which is nothing but paying every member an extra $750."

Whether all of them showed up for work or not, the horde of House employees, outnumbering the legislators by 55, drew their first pay checks last weekend to a total of $9,151.

The list, with the weekly pay of each, included the following: Carlene Feild, $80; Cathy Feild $80; the wife and daughter of Hempstead Representative Talbot Feild Jr.

Acting on a tip from the Arkansas Truck Weight station, Hope City Police this morning arrested a 15-year-old Houston, Texas youth who admitted to stealing the car he was driving.

The auto was taken at Houston late yesterday.

Local officers said the youth will be turned over to federal authorities.

President Wants $1.2 Billion for Educational Aid

By G. K. HODENFIELD

AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy sent to Congress today a 24-point program of federal aid to education, and asked for $1.2 billion to get it started.

As before, his proposals made no provision for direct aid to private or parochial schools.

Included in the omnibus measure are 13 new programs and 11 existing programs to be extended and expanded.

They include a complex system of grants for public elementary and secondary education, work projects for college students, expanded student loans, and loans and grants to help public and private colleges alike to meet the surge of new enrollments.

The President placed no price tag on his total package, which he said would phase out federal aid over a four-year period.

But he told Congress, "It is clearly realistic in terms of its cost—and it is clearly essential to the growth and security of this nation."

An administration spokesman called it a high priority program, designed to pin-point the most crucial needs and problems in American education, and at the same time to avoid controversy wherever possible.

For the past two years, Kennedy's education proposals have foundered in a controversy over aid for church schools. Kennedy says he believed such aid would be unconstitutional, breaching the barrier between church and state.

The Roman Catholic hierarchy has contended this is not true and has opposed any federal program which doesn't include aid for private and parochial schools.

contains no provision for direct aid, there is one suggested change in the college student loan program which might make it easier for church and private schools to secure teachers.

A notable omission in the sweeping program of recommendations was any request for college scholarships, a constant

Bitter Cold Keeps Hold on Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The bitter cold that has hung over Arkansas for the past two weeks relented today as light southerly winds wafted slightly warmer temperatures into the state.

Overnight lows crept above the freezing mark in some parts of the state for the first time since last week, and the Weather Bureau predicted slowly rising temperatures for today and tonight.

Batesville residents were still shivering in 9-degree weather this morning, but the mercury climbed to 34 at Texarkana and 32 at El Dorado and Arkadelphia. Most overnight readings were in the low to high 20s.

Occasional light rain was forecast for the southern portion of Arkansas this afternoon, and was expected to spread over the state tonight.

The forecast for Wednesday included occasional rain and colder weather in the northwest.

High temperatures today were expected to be in the mid 30s north and the mid 40s south. Lows of 34 north to 42 south were forecast for tonight.

Traces of rain were reported at El Dorado, Texarkana and Camden during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a. m.

Former Hope Police Chief Found Dead

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Finos Haynie, 50, former Hope Police Chief, was found dead of a bullet wound in the head at the Veterans Administration Hospital parking lot here Monday.

Pulaski County Coroner Dr. Howard Dishongh ruled it was suicide.

Roy K. Moore, special agent in charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Little Rock, said a hospital porter found Haynie in the front seat of his car.

Haynie had been chief security officer at the University of Arkansas Medical Center here.

Mr. Haynie was a state policeman working in this area when city officials hired him to take over the Hope Police Department during the early construction days of the Proving Ground when some 7,000 to 8,000 migrant workers came to this area. He remained seven years and joined the Navy in World War II. He returned to Hope after the war serving about two years prior to accepting a security job at Texarkana.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Thelma Haynie, a daughter, Mrs. Patricia Lochridge of North Little Rock, a son, William Haynie, his mother, Mrs. R. F. Haynie of Little Rock, four brothers and three sisters.

U.S. Ambassador John Tuthill had handed Erhard a statement expressing the U.S. government's concern at the bitter dispute raging among France and the other five members of the European Economic Community—West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands, Italy and Luxembourg.

Tuthill met with Erhard shortly before ministers of the six market nations gathered behind closed doors to resume their battling over Britain's membership application. France was standing fast in opposition to the British, determined to pursue President Charles de Gaulle's dream of a new, French-led Europe with American as well as British influence reduced.

American sources declined to say whether the communication was written by Kennedy or only authorized by him. It was understood, however, that it carried clearly the stamp of the President's thinking.

For the past few days the U.S. government has exerted considerable diplomatic persuasion to keep alive Britain's chances of getting into the Common Market.

Britain's deeply discouraged backers launched a last-ditch effort to break the French veto but time clearly was running out.

Some members feared that the impasse threatened the future of the prosperous, six-nation European Economic Community.

What British hopes remained rested on the outcome of a private discussion between the West Germans and the French.

The huddle gave West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder and Economic Minister Ludwig Erhard one more opportunity to urge French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville to accept a compromise formula that would put the negotiations in the hands of a study group.

The group—the EEC's nine-man executive commission would report back its findings to the ministers of the six countries.

The study would be accompanied by recommended solutions of outstanding problems, and Britain would get an opportunity to discuss the findings with the Common Market members.

would send them elsewhere if adequate protection was not provided. However, school officials at nearby schools indicated that it would be a violation of their policy to admit the children, since they lived in the Dollarway District.

Cathy and Earline said other white pupils threw ice, dirt and water at them, struck them and the Howard girl and harassed them in other manners.

The Howard girl and Cathy have not been at the school since last Tuesday. That was the day Johnny Irvin, 18, a white student in the 12th grade at the school, received a minor stab wound during an altercation at the school.

William Howard, Sarah's uncle, has been charged with assault with intent to kill and carrying a concealed weapon. Sarah's father, George Howard, is president of the state branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

He removed his daughter and the Negro boy from the school and asked Atty. Gen. Kennedy and Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas for protection.

In other action Monday, the Dollarway School Board said it was taking necessary action to maintain discipline and to insure the safety of all students and that no further court action was needed for their protection.

The board was responding to a petition filed last Friday in U.S. District Court in Little Rock by George Howard, asking protection for the Negroes at the school.

In its response the board said it had no knowledge of the matters of which Howard complained but that there had been a minor altercation involving Sarah and other students on the campus.

The board said the matter was dealt with in the usual administrative manner and the customary school order and discipline were maintained. It did not elaborate.

HEART-STOPPING FIGURES—Arteriosclerotic heart disease, including coronary disease, caused nearly 500,000 deaths in 1960, recent tabulations show. This accounted for about 29 per cent of all deaths. Sudden death (acute coronary failure) has been found to be the leading mode of death from coronary heart disease, according to "Patterns of Disease" publication.

THE STOUTHEARTED WOMEN—Study based on 5,127 persons who initially had no heart disease reveals that 186 developed coronary heart disease over a period of 6 years. Incidence of disease was 13-1 in the 30-44 age group, 2-1 in 45-62 group, with the men on the long end of the ratio in each age group. Data: "Patterns of Disease" publication.

DEADLY TRIO—Overweight, hypertension (high blood pressure), and hypercholesteremia (excessive serum cholesterol) are three major factors associated with a risk of developing coronary heart disease. Combinations of any two—or of all three factors—are associated with a 50 per cent risk before age 65. tack and blood clots settled in his lungs. In an attempt to ease the blood clots, doctors operated on both legs to tie the veins earlier this month.

Fame came late to the one-time mill worker, New Hampshire farmer and teacher. He lived in comparative obscurity until he was nearly 40.

Two years ago—at the age of 86—he was invited by President Kennedy to read a poem at his inauguration.

With a January wind tousling his thatch of white hair and a strong sun blinding him, Frost discarded the script he could not read and recited from memory a poem he had written 20 years earlier, "The Gift Outright."

Earlier, President Dwight D. Eisenhower had appointed Frost consultant in poetry to the Library of Congress.

On his 88th birthday last March 26 President Kennedy presented Frost a medal voted by Congress.

Fellow poet Carl Sandburg praised Frost as not merely a great poet, but also a beloved person, and said his work will be around for a long time.

Others had similar high praise for Frost and his works.

Not since the era of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow had an American poet won such universal acclaim.

The man who had been left fatherless at 11, worked at odd jobs, and studied a few months at Dartmouth College, found himself in later life an idol of literati, a favorite on college campuses across the nation. More than a score of colleges and universities gave him honorary degrees.

If Frost conformed to anything, it was to the admonition of a British poet, Rudyard Kipling: to talk with crowds and keep your virtue, or walk with kings, nor lose the common touch.

Frost seemed to embody the traditional New England spirit—yet his poetry was never regional in appeal. Like his own background, it extended far beyond the Northeast.

He was born in San Francisco of a New England father and a Scottish mother. His father's ancestors were Scotch and English.

Pair Arraigned at Fort Smith

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — A jail escapee and a man charged with rape were arraigned Monday at Fort Smith by Municipal Judge Lawson Cloninger.

Cloninger set $10,000 bonds for Lonnie Flurry, 22, who escaped last week from the Sebastian County Jail, and Phillip Flurry, 24, who was arrested Saturday by officers searching for his brother.

Both are being held at the county jail.

Lonnie escaped from the jail with two other men, Joseph Hoyt, Merritt of Little Rock and Elzie Goines of Fort Smith, after the trio overpowered a jailer. Merritt and Goines were captured shortly after the break. Lonnie gave himself up Sunday.

Phillip is charged with raping a Fort Smith woman last March. He was arrested near a construction project on the Arkansas River after officers received a tip that Lonnie had been seen there.

Lonnie is charged with rescuing a felon, breach of the peace and malicious mischief. He was under a 2½ year suspended sentence when he escaped.

Merritt, who is charged with armed robbery, and Goines, who is charged with forgery, were arraigned previously and also were placed under $10,000 bonds. They are being held at the county jail.

the South, he named his son Robert Lee. Although Robert Frost, in his later years, chose New England as his principal place of residence, it was in England that his poetry first won important attention. He had gone to Britain, where the cost of living was lower, after giving up attempts to farm and teach school in New England.

Beginning with "A Boy's Will" published in 1913, and "North of Boston" a year later, Frost authored numerous volumes of verse during more than half a century.

He married his high school classmate, Elinor M. White in 1895, after her graduation from college. Six children were born to them, of whom he outlived four. Mrs. Frost died in 1936.

Tick Control Important to Everyone

Kill the early adult female star ticks and reduce the summer population of ticks, County Agent Calvin Caldwell says.

One female tick may lay up to 5,000 eggs. Ticks that occur in summer months are stages of the lone star tick. The adult female tick is easily recognized by the white spot on the back. Male ticks and the younger stages do not have the white spot. There are two younger stages of this tick. Seed ticks are the larvae are newly hatched from eggs. Yearling ticks are the nymphs which come after seed ticks molt or shed their skin following their first meal. When the yearling ticks get their fill they shed their skin to become adults.

Ticks may be controlled by regular spraying of beef cattle. Cattle should be checked at least once a week. Treatment should be repeated any time ticks are found on cattle. One spraying or dipping usually lasts from three to four weeks.

Toophene at 1 gallon 45 percent livestock dip to 100 gallons of water gives control. Co-Ral is very effective at 8 pounds 25 percent wettable to 100 gallons of water. Ronnel (Korlan) is also very good at the rate of 2 gallons 24 percent concentrate to 100 gallons of water.

When cattle are treated at this time of year, any lice present are also killed.

Cheney Gets Revenue Post

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today that J. Orville Cheney will become state revenue commissioner and Ted Donham, who has held the job, will replace Cheney on the state Commerce Commission.

Kay Mathews, a member of the commission, will assume the chairmanship when Cheney vacates the post, Faubus said.

Cheney served seven years as revenue commissioner before going to the Commerce Commission.

He was Faubus' first appointee after Faubus was first elected governor in 1961. Cheney served until Nov. 1, 1961, when he left the job at his request.

Donham had retired after many years with the federal revenue department and was practicing law in Benton when Faubus asked him to take over the job in 1961.

Faubus gave no reason for the change, which he said would take effect immediately.

Thought U.S. Would Give Air Cover

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP)—Jose Andreu, one of the Bay of Pigs invaders captured by the Castro regime in April 1961, told a crowd of 1,000 persons here Monday night that the invaders hit the beach believing the United States would provide air cover.

Andreu was the principal speaker at a rally staged by the Committee Against the Sale of Communist Slave Labor Products in America.

Andreu said no air cover had been promised but all members of the brigade felt certain it would be given.

He said he was a member of the 2506th Brigade. The U.S. planned the invasion, he said.

S.S. Representatives from Arkansas and Louisiana were contacted by long distance telephone from the rally and asked to give their views on the sale in the U.S. of goods produced in Iron Curtain countries.

Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., notified the rally by letter that he could not participate.

Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., told Glenn Eslinger, chairman of the group, that the group's efforts to educate the public are to be commended.

He told the group that he always voted against trading with Communist countries.

Rep. Joe Waggoner, D-La., told the group he was opposed to trade with Communist nations.

Eslinger, who questioned the representatives, asked Waggoner why legislation was not introduced to outlaw the sale of such goods.

That would have to come from the proper committee," he answered.

What committee is that," Eslinger asked.

The Interstate Commerce Committee," Waggoner said.

Harris is chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee.

The remarks of the representatives and Eslinger were relayed to the audience via loud speaker system.

Andreu said he was imprisoned at the Isle of Pines Prison from April 1961 until last June. He said he was in a section with 214 prisoners who were given 40 blankets, had one shower and one rest room and received enough food for about 100 people.

He said the shortages were designed to lower morale of the invaders.

If you got hungry enough, you would fight for the food," he said.

During a question and answer period, Andreu said the Organization of American States if the logical body to invade Cuba and wipe out Castro's Communist government because the Communist regime in Cuba is a violation of three treaties between Cuba and the OAS.

Work Starts on Space Program

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Construction has started on an industrial complex which will be the Cape Canaveral nerve center of America's program to launch men to the moon.

Ground breaking ceremonies were held Monday for the operations and checkout building, the first of 40, where preflight testing will be done on the Gemini two-man spacecraft and the three-man Apollo moonship.

Scheduled for completion within a year, it will be eight stories tall, cost $8,691,624, have 350,000 square feet of floor space and accommodate 1,800 employees of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Wednesday after flying to Conway from New York, where he will appear on the Dick Clark Show.

source of congressional bickering in past years.

Kennedy did, however, ask for a national study to determine why students do not attend or finish college. The administration spokesman said that if the study indicates a need for scholarships, a request for them could be made next year or later.

A further attempt to avoid controversy seemed apparent in the provisions for higher education. The President proposed loans only for the construction of academic facilities. But he asked for grants to both public and private colleges for more acceptable things, such as the training of technicians, construction of libraries, and expansion of graduate schools.

The President called his 24-point program The National Education Improvement Act of 1963," and urged that this bill should be considered as a whole, as a combination of elements designed to solve problems that have no single solution.

The spokesman indicated the administration is optimistic about the prospects of what he called a new approach to the problems of education.

CHATTER
 By BILL RALEY
 Just like lots of other important happenings, we had to postpone our last and final sale because of the weather. Now that things have cleared a bit, we are ready to take off... not for other planets, but the bargains are right out of this world!

This is the final countdown, and we are calling it a FIVE AND TEN SALE. With complete disregard for cost, we are placing winter dresses in two groups... one at $5.00 and the other at $10.00. There is no limit as to how many you may purchase, the original prices are on them, you can plainly see how much you are saving (which is such a thrill!), and you will find all sizes.

We have only a few winter coats left, 4 to be exact, and you can make us an offer... we will probably take it. There are also a number of suits reduced, and if there is any one thing that really hurts us, it is to close these out at such prices, because they are all beautiful, timely styles that can be worn right into Spring. But we have to clear and make room for new merchandise.

Next we come to the sweaters, skirts and sportswear. I there is any one garment a woman can use several of, it is skirts. They fill in your wardrobe to the extent that it is almost like having two or three new outfits. These are all designed by nationally known makers; we do not have all sizes in all styles, but a wonderful over-all collection to choose from. We suggest you see them the very first thing.

Hats, costume jewelry, intimate apparel... all sorts of things are to be found in the sale. We start today; come early and stay late; you will be delightfully surprised to get so much for so little. Remember the place; it is Raley's Style Shoppe, 523 West 3rd St.

No Incidents in Clemson Integration

By ROBERT MCHUGH
 CLEMSON, S.C. (AP)—Harvey Gantt, first Negro to be enrolled at historic Clemson College, learns the ways of campus life today after spending his first night in what was once an all-white dormitory.

The routine orientation course called for the 20-year-old son of a shipyard worker from Charleston to mingle with other new students and transfer students. The briefings were designed to acquaint newcomers with the geography, rules and customs of the school.

This was Gantt's first experience in the normal student-to-student relationship. The routine of orientation today, signing up for individual classes Wednesday, and Thursday's free hours before classes start on Friday.

When Gantt enrolled Monday, police covered the campus and its environs carefully, and as many as 150 reporters and photographers dogged his steps. Uniformed patrolmen manned all campus entrances on the watch for trouble-makers.

The soft-spoken youth had little chance to enter into normal relationships with other students. The atmosphere was quite marked by only two minor incidents. Three tires were slashed on three highway patrol cars. Two men accused of making threatening remarks were removed from the campus by police.

Despite the calm, restrictions were tight during the night. News-men were barred from the campus after 7:30 p.m. Only persons with homes or offices on the rolling 400-acre school grounds could venture abroad without being turned back by police or college security forces.

On the surface, Gantt was being treated by students and college officials as just another newcomer. Gantt dined alone Monday night at a table for six in the huge student cafeteria, which seats 2,000. The noisy buzz of conversation and the clatter of knives and forks subsided briefly as he entered.

Then the normal sounds resumed. Before Gantt finished eating, a student stopped at his table for a friendly word. Later six more dropped by.

After dark, two students visited Gantt's room for what appeared to observers to be a friendly chat. South Carolina was the last state in the nation to integrate its public schools on any level.

Gantt who transferred here from Iowa State University where he had a white roommate, apparently will room alone in a dormitory populated largely by graduate and foreign students.

He has said he hopes to make friends, but is here to get an education.

FBI Probing Story of NLR Woman
 BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation questioned a woman early today who said a man forced her to drive from North Little Rock, Ark., to Birmingham.

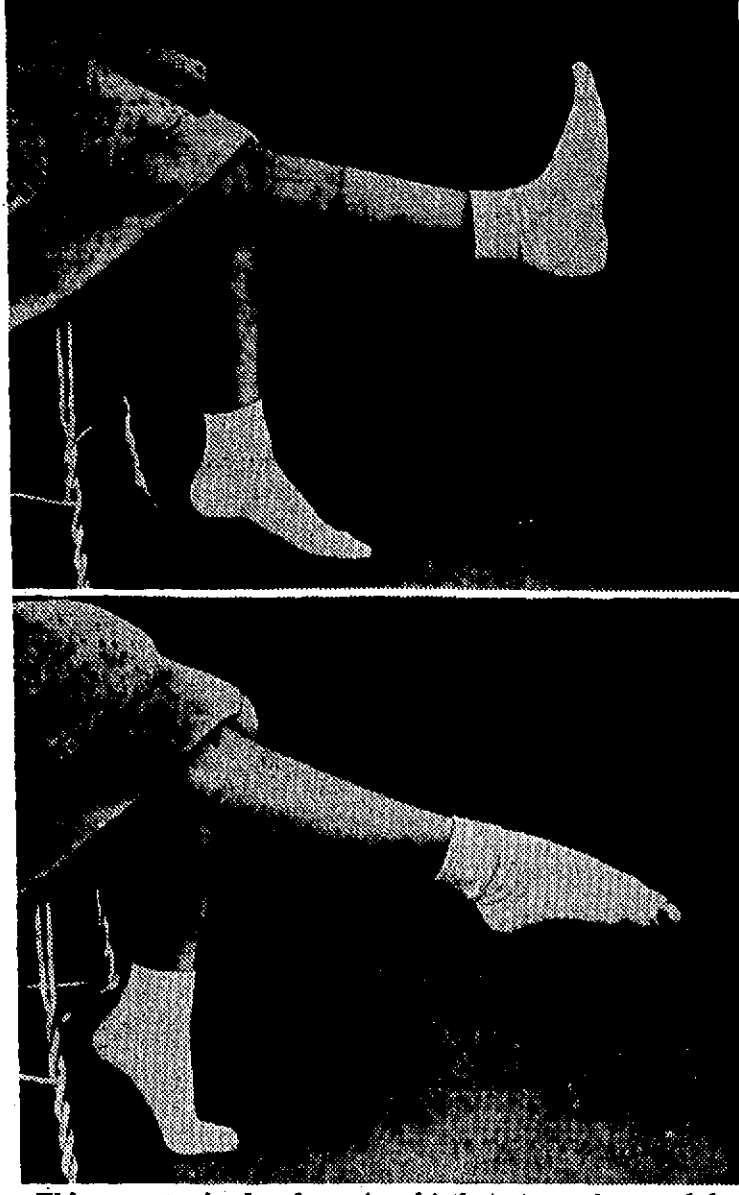

Ray L. Faist, in charge of the FBI office here, said agents are investigating the incident reported Monday night by Miss Carolyn Coors, 37, of North Little Rock, Ark.

Faist said Miss Coors gave this account of the incident: She had visited her mother who is a patient at Memorial Hospital in North Little Rock on Sunday evening. As she left the hospital two men forced her into her 1962 model personal car. One of the men left the car in Little Rock but the other forced her to drive to Birmingham.

The type or manner of force used was not disclosed. At about 7 p.m. Monday night the man left the car and Miss Coors in Birmingham.

Miss Coors went to a house nearby where residents telephoned police. Police notified the FBI.

Faist said Miss Coors was very much upset but suffered no personal injury during the enforced trip. He said she was not hospitalized and early today had not seen a physician.

DOROTHY DIX
 Boy Sees Himself As Love Burglar

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE
 Dear Helen: I feel the problem which plagues me is more or less universal, so for the peace of mind of many college lads, please print my letter and your answer.

I was born and reared in Minnesota and lived there until last August when I decided to enroll in a California university. My problem is the girl who lives up the street and an angel, if there ever was one—so I thought. We met last fall at a college dance. She was doing the twist with another fellow.

I cut in saying, "This is it, honey—love at first sight!" My blarney surprised me for ordinarily I'm a quiet, reserved kid—the studious type bent on getting ahead in this world and look more like 16 than 19. She let me swing her out on the floor then said, "Not so fast, Baby Face, I'm engaged to a Navy man."

"Do you love him?" I asked between twits. "Sure do," she said. "He's big and strong and has a way." I left early, alone, but not without getting her name and phone number.

I dreamed about her every night. Every morning I gave myself a lecture about how she belonged to another fellow. Then, on the way to college I'd meet her going to school (she's a senior in high) and it was "Hello" and "Goodbye."

Last week, after our usual early encounter, I blurted out, "How about going with me to the basketball game tonight?" "Fine," she said.

We had a great time talking and laughing; she telling me about herself, me telling her about myself. That was Friday. Saturday morning I called her. Would she care to go to lunch and a show? She would, then laughing, she remarked, "You're a quick worker." I thought of the Navy man and felt a twinge of conscience but I also felt mighty masterful.

She ate a big lunch and talked about the basketball game we'd seen the previous night. Seems she knew most of the plays. After a South Sea Island affair with plenty of native girls and Marines. It was showing in one of those long, tunnel-like theaters the soft music and enveloping darkness got me.

Before I knew it I had my arm around this girl and the next moment...

NERVES Cause Urge To Scream

"I was so nervous! One day in church I got panicky, wanted to scream, and had to walk out. Our Druggist recommended Alva-Tranquil tablets. They are wonderful for my nervous tension, and to take before exciting events!" says Mrs. H. R. of Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Are you sick and tired of being tense, worried, unable to sleep, emotionally upset, suffering miseries of nervous tension, due to simple nervousness? Then, take sedative-calming ALVA-TRANQUIL tablets to quickly tranquilize and relax these unquiet, tensions, emotional upsets—for up to 8 wonderful, relaxing hours!

Switch to fast-acting, miracle-like ALVA-TRANQUIL tablets. No aspirin, not habit forming. 100% safe, taken as directed. Ask your Druggist for genuine ALVA-TRANQUIL tablets. Regular type, $2, or 8-hour time-release formula, $2.25. Refuse imitations. T. W. Inc. Inc. N.Y.C. 8, 1961, A.D.

dreamed up to egg you on.

Dear Helen: My boy friend says he thinks of me as a little sister but he doesn't treat me like one. We go every place together and are more than good friends, having dated since he moved here five years ago; we were both kids then—he 12, I 11. That remark about my being his sister rankles. How can I tell whether he really cares or just looks me up for want of an audience. He's a great talker. —Wondering.

Dear Wondering: Love wears many faces. Every boy casts his sweetheart in a variety of roles; sister being only one of them. Take it as a compliment that your boy friend does regard you as his sister. The fact that he pours out his heart to you is another encouraging indication.

Continue to be a good listener and one day he will say the three little words you long to hear. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, The Way to a Boy's Heart.

Dear Helen: I live at home with my aged mother and need to do something for pastime as well as profit. Candle making has always fascinated me. Where might I find the materials? I could make the molds but to obtain wax, tallow, or whatever, is a problem. One California firm wanted a $65 fee for teaching me the technique. That seems pretty steep. Any suggestions? —Doer

Dear Doer: Good for you, seeking work you can do at home as therapy as well as means of support. Go to the local telephone office and check through the classified directory of the nearest large city for addresses of dealers in wax or tallow. Query them on price. According to America House, New York City, an organization devoted to encouraging the handicrafts, hand-dipped candles sell well but, to be profitable, would have to be made in large quantities. Are you equipped to do this? America House suggests you write the American Craftsman's Council, 29 West 53rd Street, New York City for further details. You might also query Mrs. George Metcalf of the Women's Exchange, 641 Madison Avenue, New York City, on the marketing of them. Just in case candle-making doesn't prove practical, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Cleveland Talks With UN Chief

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Harlan Cleveland of the U.S. State Department talked for more than two hours Monday with Secretary-General U Thant and other U.N. officials on the eve of the dispatch of a special U.S. mission to the Congo.

Cleveland heads the mission which, he told reporters, will study the civilian needs of the Congo in the wake of the end of Katanga secession.

Meets Aimed at Easing Cotton Ills

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House Cotton Subcommittee begins work this week on legislation aimed at curing some of the troubles besetting the country's cotton grower and the cotton textile millers. Headed by Rep. E. C. Gathings, D-Ark., the subcommittee will have hearings on several proposals, including one by Gathings. Then it will sit down hoping to draft something with a chance of getting through the House.

One problem is that cotton growing areas of the country aren't in full agreement on a bill. Another is that rural areas no longer dominate the House and many urban legislators don't look too kindly on a bill putting the cost of a cotton subsidy program on consumers.

Gathings confined his bill to two areas. One section deals with a disparity between the domestic price for cotton and the world price of cotton, the latter being about 8 1/2 cents lower than the former. This disparity enables foreign mills to sell cheaper products to the U.S. than U.S. mills can turn out.

To deal with this disparity Gathings proposes payments designed to permit domestic mills to buy U.S. cotton at about 25 cents a pound, rather than 32.47 cents as at present. Subsidy payments would be in the nature of certificates entitling the holder to draw out surplus cotton in an amount sufficient to make up the price difference.

Gathings said he hopes urban legislators would accept this approach. The result of his proposal, he said, would be that the public could get cotton goods at lower prices and the cotton farmer would sell more raw cotton to the textile mills. We will have to sell the House on the idea that we have a plan which will help the consumer, will stabilize markets, will give the farmer an outlet for his cotton, and will put people to work," he said.

Missing Man Is in New Orleans

HARRISON, Ark. (AP) — Mrs. William C. Arbaugh was to leave today to go to New Orleans to pick up her husband, who turned up here Monday after disappearing last Tuesday in Chicago.

Arbaugh, 26, was in Chicago last Tuesday with Ernest Grider, also of Harrison. They were installing church furniture for Turney Wood Products Co. of Harrison.

In New Orleans, detectives said Arbaugh told them that he finished the installation work and went to a bar and had a drink.

He said he felt dizzy after the drink, that he got a ride with another man, passed out and woke up in a New Orleans alley. Grider reported Arbaugh missing after he failed to show up at a motel restaurant where they had arranged to meet. Arbaugh is the father of two sons.

He received the B.A. Degree in Political Science from the University of California in 1962. In 1956, he went to Denmark as Exchange Student under the American Field Service Program.

His present home is in Berkeley, California.

This little room had walls of concrete several feet thick. Matt, of course, did not know the figures, but Dr. Stroup could have told him that it takes a potential of more than a million volts, 1,200,000 in a little less round numbers, to produce one hundred million electron volts. This machine produced not one hundred million, but nine billion electron volts.

This kind of power doesn't come from a wall socket but is produced by a van de Graaff generator, a conveyor belt which scrapes protons from one source and carries them to the supply point of the bevatron. Theoretically an unlimited potential can be built by such a generator. Practically the peak is determined by the sparking point, at which man-made lightning shoots in all directions.

The concrete shields were to protect operators and technicians from sparking, although there was a possibility of radiation. Ordinary insulation was not enough. Ready, Dr. Stroup, came a voice through an intercom in the booth.

Stroup pressed a button. To Matt's ears came the clingnig of a bell.

"Hold it," said the intercom. Then: Hey, Joe, take shelter in the control booth. We can't wait all day."

A moment later the booth door opened and a young, panting technician came in.

All clear. Let her go."

Stroup pressed another button. Instantly broad strips of tape came to life as pens marked zig-zag lines across them. Needles on dials, lines on oscillographs, started to move.

On the closed-circuit television screen Matt saw what looked like a spark jump from the end of the bevatron into a box which held the graphite target.

It was not an ordinary spark, twisting and writhing like a serpent, but a straight, unvarying stream, like water from the nozzle of a firehose. A stream of protons, the building blocks of the universe, was unleashing the fundamental power of the atom.

The whole thing was finished in the matter of seconds. The noise, dimly heard in the shielded room, stopped. The spark stream vanished. The pens ceased writing and the needles and oscillograph lines grew lifeless.

So quick?" Matt said Half to himself. And then he remembered that Doc had said the universe was created in 30 minutes. This hadn't been disturbed a small section of it.

I think we got some Tau mesons," said Stroup. What else we got, will have to be figured out on Braddie." The Bradovae, named for Corbin Bradley, was the Magnetic Electric electronic brain.

I hope you did," said Rispin. You've no idea how much all this is costing us."

Money well spent," said Stroup. Even if we got nothing, we've learned something. Isn't that the way you work, Matt?" The scientist winked at the detective. Stroup seemed in high spirits.

The technician was collecting the tapes. We'll have the films developed immediately, Dr. Stroup," he said. I'll send them to your office."

Fine," Stroup got to his feet. He stretched his arms and took his top coat from a hanger which was suspended from a peg in the back wall. He had no jacket to his suit, apparently having left it in his office. I'm going back to my office, Matt. Maybe we can talk on the way."

Rispin got to his feet. He had worn his suit jacket and now he bundled himself in his top coat. You have no idea how you're disrupting everything, young man," he said.

He's got Bradley's blessing and probably a big fee besides," said Stroup. Let him earn a living."

Rispin finished buttoning his coat and waddled out the door without a reply.

If he wasn't going to retire pretty soon, I wouldn't put up with him. There's a dozen outfits I could work for. Less money, maybe, but more comfort."

They went through the lead-lined door and out of the building. Give me a cigarette, will you, partner?" Stroup asked. I get in the habit of not carrying them around and I never have one when I have a chance to smoke."

U.S. Presses for Unified Europe

By LARRY OSIUS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will continue to press for a unified Europe and close U.S.-European economic and military relations, says Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Despite French President Charles de Gaulle's opposition to certain agreement and proposals, Rusk believes Europeans have pretty much the same goals — a grand design of the West."

History and the hard fact of Soviet ambitions demand it, Rusk said Sunday in an NBC television interview (Meet the Press.)

But while Rusk was saying there would be no change in basic U.S. policy in regard to Europe, a presidential fact-finding group said Europe should provide more of its own defense or risk a reduction of U.S. military aid.

Commenting on De Gaulle's opposition to Britain's entry into the Common Market and his rejection of a proposed North Atlantic Treaty Organization nuclear force in favor of French developed and controlled nuclear weapons, Rusk said:

Just as we have never ourselves wanted to dominate Europe — I am quite sure that Europe does not wish to be dominated by any particular country. So it seems to me that this great Western community has been moving on, despite the fact that at one time or another, one country or another has had different views on a particular aspect of it.

I think this movement is required by the historical situation, it is supported by the wishes of the peoples concerned throughout both continents and therefore I think we can expect the general movement to continue."

In a report to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee four senators sent to Europe by President Kennedy last fall said the United States should drastically revise its policies unless Western Europe contributes more to its own defense and to aiding underdeveloped nations.

The report, signed by Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, said recent Common Market attitudes toward Britain and toward U.S. farm products are most disturbing. Joining Mansfield were Sens. J. Caleb Boggs, R-Del., and Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., and former Sen. Benjamin Smith, D-Mass.

Saratoga Ousts Blevins in County Meet

Weather permitting the Hempstead County basketball tournament will be played off this week. Last night the Blevins Junior boys took the County title with a 39 to 28 victory over Spring Hill.

It was a hard fought contest that saw Spring Hill at times. However, at the half Blevins held an 18-15 lead and had pulled ahead 30 to 20 at the end of three.

In the second contest the Hope Senior girls bested Saratoga 46 to 37.

Shirley Smith was again high with 19 points, followed by Annette Halfield with 16, and Janice Lloyd with 11. Fontaine had 18 for Saratoga.

Others playing for Hope were: Forward, Carolyn Halfield; and Guards, Gwen Farmer, Regina Smith, Judy Owen, Gayle McGill, Carolyn Hamm, and Betty Whitton.

In the final game, a close one all the way, Blevins Senior Boys were ousted by Saratoga 68 to 67. The teams swapped goal for goal all the way. At the end of the first quarter the score was 16-all. Saratoga edged to a 35 to 29 half-time lead but Blevins stayed in the contest and it was 51 to 45 at the end of three.

Blevins made its bid in the final quarter, gradually closing the gap. However, it was a foul shot at the game's end that gave Saratoga the victory.

Wednesday night the Hope B boys will play Saratoga; Hope Senior Girls take on Spring Hill and the Saratoga Junior girls meet Guernsey.

Arkansas Team Finally Edged

ALCORN, Miss. (AP) — Alcorn A&M battled a stubborn Arkansas A&M team into overtime Monday night and finally edged the visitors 103-100 in the final seconds of the Southwestern Conference game.

The lead changed hands 11 times in the game. At the half, Arkansas led 49-48.

The score was deadlocked 95-95 when regulation time ran out. Both sides swapped the lead in overtime, but Alcorn went ahead 100-98 with less than a minute left, and Tommy Davis added three points to clinch the victory.

James Allen of Arkansas A&M was top scorer with 33 points. Davis paced Alcorn with 24.

Bearcats on Top for 9th Straight Week

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

For the ninth straight week the University of Cincinnati, unbeaten in 33 straight games, including 15 this season, is the No. 1 team in college basketball.

The defending national champion slipped a bit in this week's Associated Press poll although they passed one of their toughest tests. Instead of being the unanimous choice, the Bearcats gained only 42 of the 43 first-place votes cast by the AP panel of sports writers and broadcasters. The other first-place vote went to third-place Duke.

Chicago Loyola, unbeaten in 18 starts, retained its No. 2 ranking, but Illinois, beaten last Saturday by Cincinnati, fell to fourth. Duke moved up following its thumping of West Virginia. The 111-71 lacing at the hands of the Blue Devils dropped West Virginia out of the Top Ten.

The Top Ten with points based on 10 for first place votes, 9 for second, etc., and first place votes in parentheses:

1. Cincinnati (42)
2. Chicago Loyola
3. Duke (1)
4. Illinois
5. Arizona State
6. Georgia Tech
7. Stanford
8. Colorado
9. Mississippi State
10. Wichita

Bobsled Races Get Underway

IGLS, Austria (AP) — Twenty-one bobsled teams from 11 countries including a shaky group of Americans, were due back on the world championship course today after damage and illness had forced suspension of first day trials for the four-man races.

Organizers and army details worked all night mending deep holes cut into the icy curves by the heavy four-man sleds.

At the same time, the 10-man American delegation took advantage of the suspension to try to fight off the flu bug that has affected most of the team.

Worst off was Larry McKillip of Saranac Lake, N.Y., driver of the No. 1 U.S. sled. He has a 103-degree temperature. Jim Lamy, also of Saranac Lake, was out of bed for the first time in two days but still shaky.

There seemed little doubt that the full team would be in shape by the time the four-man championships begin on Saturday.

GM Reports More Sales Ever in '62

NEW YORK (AP) — General Motors Corp. reported today the largest sales and net income in its history.

GM said its 1962 net income is estimated at $1,459,000,000. Its previous high net income, in 1955, total $1,289,000,000, a difference of $270 million.

Sales last year were estimated at $14.6 billion. The previous high was $12.7 billion in 1960.

The company's net income was $566 million more than in 1961, when it totaled $893 million.

Sales last year were $3.2 billion more than the $11.4 billion registered two years ago.

Sales of cars and trucks in 1962, the company said, totaled 5,239,000 units, 4 per cent above the previous record year of 1955 and 30 per cent higher than the 4,037,000 units sold in 1961.

Net income is the figure arrived at after money is put aside for taxes and other things. GM said U.S. and foreign taxes for 1962 will total an estimated $1,475,000,000, compared with $75 million in 1961.

Dividends last year also were a record amount—$3 a share being paid to holders of common stock.

The company said the $850 million in common stock dividends is the largest amount ever paid

Pro Gridders Start Hall of Fame

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Seventeen men who contributed to pro football as players, coaches, club founders or league commissioners were named today as charter members of the National Professional Football Hall of Fame.

A 14-man board of selectors, one from each city in the National Football League, chose the men by unanimous vote, after considering 80 nominees. The election actually was held Dec. 29 on the eve of the NFL title game but was not announced until today.

Twelve of the 17 charter members are alive. They will be present next summer or fall when the formal induction is held at the Hall of Fame, now under construction here. Players must have been retired for at least three years to merit consideration.

The charter members, in alphabetical order, are:

Sammy Baugh, quarterback, Washington Redskins (1937-52); Bert Bell, NFL commissioner, 1946-59; Joe Carr, first pro football czar (1921-39); Dutch Clark, quarterback, Portsmouth (Ohio) Spartans and Detroit Lions (1931-38); Red Grange, halfback, Chicago Bears (1925-37); George Halas, player, coach, founder, Chicago Bears;

Mel Hein, center, New York Giants (1931-45); Wilbur (Fats) Henry, tackle, Canton Bulldogs, Akron Indians, New York Giants, Pottsville Maroons, Pittsburgh Steelers (1920-30); Cal Hubbard, tackle and end, New York Giants, Green Bay Packers, Pittsburgh Steelers (1927-36); Don Hutson, end, Green Bay (1935-45); Curley Lambeau, player, coach, founder, Green Bay (1919-49); Tim Mara, founder, New York Giants (1925-59); George Preston Marshall, founder, Washington Redskins;

John (Blood) McNally, halfback, Milwaukee Badgers, Duluth Eskimos, Pottsville Maroons, Green Bay Packers, Pittsburgh Steelers (1925-39); Bronko Nagurski, fullback and tackle, Chicago Bears (1930-37, 43); Ernie Nevers, fullback, Duluth Eskimos and Chicago Cardinals (1926-37); Jim Thorpe, halfback, Canton Bulldogs, Oorang Indians, Cleveland Indians, Toledo Maroons, Rock Island Independents, New York Giants (1915-26).

Dick McCann, director of the Hall of Fame, said the next meeting of the selection board will be held on the eve of the 1963 NFL title game. It was announced that no set number will be picked each year although there never will be as many as 17 again at any one time. A unanimous vote will not necessarily be required in the future.

Brothers Jailed Following Tip

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—Two brothers were in jail here today after one of them was captured when police got a tip about the other brother.

Phillip Flurry, 24, who was charged several months ago with the rape of a Fort Smith woman, was arrested Saturday by police checking out a tip on his brother.

Officers were searching for Lonnie Flurry, 22, who escaped last week from the Sebastian County Jail at Fort Smith. Phillip was found near a construction project on the Arkansas River. Lonnie turned himself over to police Sunday morning.

Lonnie was being held on breach of the peace when he and two companions left the jail after overpowering a jailer.

The other two escapees, Joseph Hoyt Merritt of Little Rock and Elzie Goines of Fort Smith, were captured shortly after the break. Merritt is charged with armed robbery. Goines with forgery.

Delight Bank Burglarized

DELIGHT, Ark. (AP) — The Bank of Delight was burglarized over the weekend of $1,150 in small change.

Sheriff Charles Holder said the burglary, which was discovered when the bank opened this morning, looked like the work of professionals.

He said no explosives had been used, but that the burglars used crow bars to gain their entrance and break into one vault.

They attempted to peel back the door to the main vault, Holder said, but were unsuccessful.

The bank burglary was the first reported in Arkansas since a rash of robberies and burglaries last summer.

If you wait long enough, anything can happen in college basketball — even Furman beating West Virginia.

The Paladins did just that Monday night, shading the Mountaineers 59-58 in their Southern Conference thriller. It was a feat Furman had never been able to accomplish in 17 games over a 10-year span.

Going all the way with its five starters, playing deliberately and cautiously to set up the good shots Furman perpetrated one of the biggest conference upsets of this or any other season.

The Paladins, who have specialized in tight ones this season but have lost most of them as their 7-11 record indicates, dealt West Virginia its second straight loss. Duke swamped the Mountaineers 111-71 Saturday and dropped them out of the national rankings.

Georgia Tech took over the Southeastern Conference lead with a 66-62 victory over slumping Kentucky. Indiana remained unbeaten in the Big Ten, nipping Purdue 74-73 for its first winning decision on the Boilermakers' floor in nine years.

People welcome the newspaper and the advertising it carries. 71% of all weekday newspapers are home-delivered, guaranteeing audience continuity.

The readers who paid to have the newspaper delivered welcome the advertising in its pages, because advertising is a kind of news itself...news about the marketplace. In fact, after the news itself, advertising is the most popular feature in the paper. 78% say they'd prefer a newspaper with ads to one without. But 54% would rather have TV without ads; 61% would rather have radio without ads.

Put your advertising message in the daily newspaper—most people want it there.
